she promised to write that very evening. I hope she did.

Well yesterday was D-day and we closed all the stores in the afternoon and the people went to church to pray for the invasion Most all churchs had a mass at twelve O'clock all church bell rang. So we must all pray very hard now for the safty of our men.

Daddy got back Mon. noon from his trip in Detroit and he was very tired. It is a long ride and he works very hard when they send him away like that It is good to have him home.

I'm very sure that giving my mother the knitted bag will make her very happy. Not only
